REACH Declaration

On June 1 2007, Regulation (EC) No. 1907/2006 concerning the Registration, Evaluation, Authorization and Restriction of Chemicals (REACH) came into effect. Article 33 obliges manufacturers to inform their customers about the substances of very high concern (SVHC) in their products, which are listed under Article 59.

GEMAC Chemnitz GmbH (hereinafter referred to as GEMAC), as a manufacturer of electronic products ("complex objects") and a "downstream user," is aware of its obligations under the REACH regulation. GEMAC monitors the changes to the so-called candidate list and strives to avoid the se of SVHC in its products.

A comparison between the SVHC list and GEMAC's products has revealed that, based on the information provided by our suppliers, lead (CAS number 7439-92-1) is present in our products at levels above the threshold of 0.1 weight percent in the contained components.

If products contain other SVHC above the threshold of 0.1 weight percent at the level of the contained components, they will be listed in the following list, or you will be informed separately:

GEMAC Product Overview SVHC

This list is subject to continuous updates and is not claimed to be exhaustive. All products of GEMAC comply with Annexes XIV and XVII of the REACH regulation. This declaration does not apply to free-issue materials.
